Comments:

The score was done with the help of tonica fugata by Capella. It's not my usual way to let a software do the main work, but this score is of course not the first but about the 17th try with that theme. There had to be - again of course because the software is not composing but calculating :) - there had to be a bit of work to do to get these results, so it is after all in a way my work ;D
Many regards to www.capella.de and their products that made that possible.

PS.: Happy birthday Skyrim ;-D
